Hey there friend

I want to give you a hand.
First of, I gonna to be honest here: I don't think you can win against Riot Games/Tencent. This is not me being pessimistic, is about being realistic. They have the means to silence you if things "breach containment", so to speak. If anything, I would urge you to make the case as public as possible to keep yourself safe.

That being said, I still think you deserve a fighting chance;

As of right now, Riot's Legal Team is VERY confident in that the Court will dismiss your case. They are mostly reliant on the proof "Riot Forge Argument".... HOWEVER if that fails in the next hearing, they will move to Plan B: They will fill a motion to bifurcate discovery to a new "proof" they will present: A series of emails between Praeco/Yee and Jane Hoffacker. The emails are from August 2018/ January 2019 and I thiiiink July or June 2019 (but don't take my word for the last one, I'm not sure I'm got it right). The emails from August and January "contain" 9 PDF documents with the "final" script for Season 1; the other mail has the first 5 episodes from S2. (There is also some concept art that was meant to be shared with the skins team at Riot CA, but I'm not sure in which format was sent or if it was a separate mail entirely).

The date of the emails is real. The content is not.

Trying to "investigate" the computer/servers at Fortiche France is a waste of time. During the entire month of February, they sent a guy (or several, honestly I don't know) from a company called Chronodisk to "Secure" (read: to scrap) everything... BUT there is still something: Many of the computers that the French team used during 2019/2020 were moved to their Spain division (Laspalmas).

All of this to say; If you manage to pass the next step of the process, and IF can push enough to get them to investigate the content of those emails, you must make sure the Court orders their Email server to produce/verified the mails. Sending forensic investigators to check the PC at either Riot HQ or Fortiche Paris will get you nothing. Is the only way you might get a step up.

Do what you want with this information. Just be smart about it.
